

The Long-Term Government Covert Educational Program on Alien Visitors

by Lt Col Donald M. Ware (ret.)

Introduction

In 1952, at age 16, I developed a strong curiosity about flying saucers after observing seven of them over Washington, D.C. They were in the restricted area over the White House. I later attended Duke University, and the greatest lesson I learned was how to think. I read all I could find about UFOs throughout my 26 years as an Air Force officer, and I came to know six people in the service who had seen alien vehicles up close. In 1970 I earned a Master of Science degree in Nuclear Engineering with the idea in the back of my mind that it would help me to understand the advanced science of our visitors. After exploring much of the world, I retired at age 47 and became a UFO investigator.

In 1989, after studying and learning more about the non-physical aspects of the universe, I was used by a higher intelligence to send a message to the generals at Eglin Air Force Base. I had worked there for three years as a test manager. I did not understand what the message was about, because it was slightly garbled by the channel through which it came. However, I chose to act upon it. The message was apparently of considerable significance to those for whom it was sent. I now see that that choice of mine was the passing of a test that allowed me to have further participation in the transformation process. I then received 15 messages through seven different sources that appear to have come from a higher intelligence, each using one of three telepathic processes. I started to pay attention. One of the messages said, "...Individuals such as Donald Ware have a mission whether they have yet fully recognized it. They are to show that science and spirituality are two sides of one coin and cannot be separated..." This is quite a challenge, but I chose to accept it. I think that many people, some in important positions, have been given similar challenges.

General Assessment

I see a connection among the various "UFO" stories that have survived through the millennia, stories often recorded in religious writings. Some involve transformational issues. I accept the idea that intelligent life is abundant throughout the universe, in both incarnate and discarnate forms. We continue to live after shedding these physical bodies. Our true being is the spirit within us, rather than our bodies. For example, we do not become less of a human being if we lose an arm or a leg. Evidence from thousands of "UFO" cases and related phenomena indicates that the normal means of communication by higher intelligence is telepathic, whether that intelligence is an alien in physical form or an unseen spiritual teacher. The direct projection of thought allows communication between beings with different physical form.

A higher intelligence that chooses to read our thoughts can do so. Communication with higher intelligence now involves many people around the world. Millions of Americans are participating in a hybridization program with short beings from Zeta Reticula. The resulting hybrid has a larger brain and greater telepathic ability. The new body is being developed to house our souls as many of us Earthlings join a galactic society. This same body will house some Zeta Reticulan souls. This is a joint human/Zeta program. I think that communication with some world leaders long ago led to alien liaison.

I think that galactic societies have a "prime directive" that limits interference with lesser-evolved species such as we. The main reason alien liaison is increasing now is because our planet is being transformed to support a new world order. This process involves the evolution of the soul. The new order is destined to support a learning process that is one step beyond the human experience of free-will choices. It is the experience of learning to develop unconditional love of others. I think this outcome is unlikely unless the selfish or negative souls stop re-incarnating here. I hope, for the sake of our stressed environment, that we will get this kind of divine assistance. If this happens, then the new world order can become what Jesus described as heaven on Earth.

Many of the above ideas have inspired secret societies. For centuries the secrecy has been required for self-protection. I think the Bilderburgers, the Tri-lateral Commission, and the Council on Foreign Relations in America is influenced by alien liaison. I think some of their members have accepted a challenge to help bring about a new world order just as I accepted a personal challenge in 1989 to help bridge the gap between science and spirituality. I think many members of these groups recognize that having a government that can speak for all of the people of the world is a prerequisite to joining a galactic society. However, because of strong nationalistic feelings, there is strong resistance to establishing a world government. This resistance is driven primarily by greed, hate or fear. I think these are feelings that we can overcome, given some divine assistance. Fortunately, I see progress being made. We now have only one super-power in military might. Economies are coalescing into three major economic blocks, and advanced communication and transportation systems are allowing a great inter-mingling of societies.

I think the US government did recover an alien vehicle in 1947. I think the aliens flew around in the restricted area over the White House in 1952 because they wanted to make us aware of their presence. I think President Eisenhower did have a meeting with aliens after being given a demonstration of their technology at Edwards AFB in 1954. Most people did not accept this story, because the widest exposure was in the National Enquirer. (I wonder who put it there.) MJ-12 must have existed in the 1950s much as described in Admiral Hillencoetter's briefing document.¹ I think MJ-12 continues to exist in some form.

In 1953 the Robertson panel found, in essence, that it is in the national interest to keep the public from getting too excited about our alien visitors. While some people insert disinformation into major "UFO" cases, others are covertly raising our awareness of a larger reality through a variety of means. The disinformation provides a control lever for our covert agents to influence public reaction to major "UFO" events and to covertly released documents. And the educational programs are carefully designed to mold our thinking about our visitors without forcing us to accept any ideas, without violating the prime directive of the aliens with whom some people had liaison.

The Friendly Spook Letter

In February 1989 Wendelle Stevens, well-known UFO investigator and publisher received a letter from someone he has chosen to call a "friendly spook," a government intelligence agent.² The letter concerned the US government's investigation of the Billy Meier case in Switzerland that Stevens had investigated. It also had much to say about the development of government policy on "UFOs". Following are a few paragraphs from that letter:

"...In 1945, when it was first proven that UFOs were real, from space, operated by intelligent beings, most of whom were in human form, the American Government did a soft touch check to see what the great unwashed public would say, and how the public would respond to UFOs, and space people, if the President informed the public over national radio.

"...The public's response was all bad. Ninety-seven percent of the public took one of two approaches. Shoot first and ask questions later. Or call the UFOs agents of the devil, the prince of the power of the air, the anti-Christ, and set up an even worse situation, where UFOs would become a real negative religious issue. What was surprising was the response of the religious leadership, which was by far worse than the general public's response. It could only be called grim news.

"...The military mind drew one conclusion. The single most important thing to do, in the situation it was in, namely sitting on some hot, highly controversial information, was to keep the general public from getting a bad response by controlling the public's response to UFOs. In other words, keep the damned religious mentality out of the issues involved, as long as possible.

"But, do not ever say that the military never did anything about informing the public about the existence of UFOs. That will mean you have not figured out the methods used by the government to spread the word about UFOs. You might say the military took the Bible's advice about not to let the left hand know what the right hand is doing.

"The military pulled the very same trick Moses pulled, when he did not like the attitude of his troops after crossing the Red Sea. He took the time to grow a new batch of troops, whose response and thinking was more to his liking. And that is what the military did about UFOs..."

I think the concept of educating a new generation has merit, and is supported by history. Consider how alien vehicles and aliens have become a part of our society with minimal adverse impact. Cartoons have included them for decades, and now Ghostwriter is influencing the young, and some older folks too. Advertisements of all sorts show alien interaction with us. Even our most commonly reported aliens have beer parties with Miller Lite. I was told that Bob Oeschler knows an individual, apparently in some government service, who visits CEOs around the country to encourage such advertisements. And Jamie Shandera said he was told that government agents influenced the making of "The Day the Earth Stood Still", "Close Encounters of the Third Kind", and "ET" to help shape public perceptions.

Educating Leaders of the DOD

While taking the time to change the thinking of the public about our alien visitors, those few people who were managing the educational program apparently found it necessary to change the thinking at the top levels of the Department of Defense through covert means. The following story describes one event in that program.

In 1988 a friend brought a recently retired lawyer from New York to my home so he could tell me about his personal UFO experience in 1959. After listening to his story, I asked him if he had had any other encounters. He said no, but his neighbor, a retired Air Force lieutenant colonel, told him about an intriguing experience. His neighbor said he flew large aircraft (I don't recall if it was C-135s or C-140s) out of Peterson AFB, Colorado in 1968 when he got a strange mission. He flew a large group of high-ranking generals and civilians from the Pentagon to a TACAN/DME position over the southwest desert and was told to listen on a certain radio frequency. When he got there three alien vehicles appeared, and everyone on the plane was able to see them. Then over the assigned channel came this message, "There are many concepts of God in the universe." The alien vehicles departed, and the Air Force plane returned to base.

Now consider this mission carefully. If it really happened, and I have no reason to believe it did not, someone at a very high level in our government either coordinated that mission with the aliens or accepted the coordination of a known non-government individual. And why did this happen? I can only presume that someone wanted the top levels of our Department of Defense to associate UFOs with that message. I find this believable, considering all the other data I have collected. This event also made me wonder if the Pentagon Working Group that Howard Blum wrote about in Out There was another covert educational program for lower-ranking officers.³

Educating the Troops

In the August 1992 issue of the MUFON UFO Journal, Bob

Gribble described an event that occurred on Tulagi Island in the South Pacific in August 1942. According to Stephen J. Brickner of the First Marine Division, a flight of 150 disk-shaped vehicles flew over the troops who were expecting Japanese bombers. They were in straight majestic lines of 10 to 12 craft each, one behind the other. The gleaming objects seemed to "wobble slightly, and every time they wobbled, they would shimmer brightly from the sun." The formation disappeared swiftly, leaving the excited witnesses open mouthed. Was this a demonstration by some alien folks to raise the awareness of the soldiers?

I vaguely recall several stories from the mid-fifties where airmen on various Air Force bases reported to the base theater for "Commander's Call" and were shown about 30 minutes of slides and film clips of alien vehicles. When the show was over, an officer came on stage and said, "Don't talk about it! Dismissed."

I also know a prominent, well-educated civilian named George Gaines who had a UFO sighting in 1955. He was 12 years old, and he reported it in a letter to the "UFO Office, Eglin AFB." A few days later, at 0900 on Saturday, he got a call and was asked if he reported the sighting. When he said yes, he was told to stay right there, rather than go to swim practice at the YMCA as he had planned. Five minutes later a new white Cadillac arrived with a colonel and a captain in uniform. They spent hours questioning him and showing him UFO film clips and albums full of UFO photos. His parents were asked to stay in the next room. There was one album they did not show him before they started to leave. He asked what was in it, and they asked if he had seen any aliens. He said no and was told they only show that to people who report seeing aliens. He insisted on seeing it, and they complied. George said it was full of alien photos. Some were dead, and some appeared alive.

More recently, the MidOhio Research Associates found at least two sources that talk about a "UFO" demonstration given to the troops of Desert Storm. A retired US military officer, using the pseudonym "Frank", said it happened two days before the start of the ground war. This must have been a time of boredom and nervousness for the ground troops.

"Fran" said he learned from reliable sources that about 8000 soldiers saw a huge "UFO" over their four tank battalions in Saudi Arabia. It was oblong and bluish-green. Its size was 1/4 mile long and perhaps 200 yards wide. It suddenly appeared and hovered silently over the troops for a long time. Then "the light show began" as it rose upward and quickly disappeared. Many soldiers took pictures with their privately owned cameras. The next day security people arrived. They formed everyone up into small groups for a de-briefing, and they confiscated the film.

If some group had a mission to change the thinking of the public without causing too much excitement, what better way is there than influencing military troops? They can most easily be restricted from going to the media where the audience could be an unmanageable 50 million. The timing of the above event indicates they may have even known the planned date of the start of the ground war.

The Warwick Research Institute Letter

In 1992 John Schuessler, a Deputy Director for the Mutual UFO Network, Inc., received a large package of information from an anonymous source. This package included the following letter:

TO: Policy Committee, November 1990
Subject: Observations on Public Acclimation Program

The metered release of information to the public through various unofficial channels continues to generate much interest and an increasing level of awareness, with few if any observable side-effects, other than healthy skepticism on the part of some people. We respectfully suggest continuing the present approach, as it is making information available to those who are psychologically ready for it, without causing undue stress on those who are not ready.

The present approach is also proving helpful to those who are having first-hand encounters. It is providing them with a context in which to put experiences they cannot otherwise explain or understand. Having some conception of what has happened to them is an enormous psychological relief to these people -- and helps them get on with their lives, as best as possible. Providing information which helps people to cope will become increasingly important as the percentage of the population having these encounters continues to rise. As you know, some assistance in this area is being rendered by interested parties.

Over time, it may be appropriate to increase the accuracy and the consistency of information in circulation. The very good groundwork laid over the last few years has made it possible to acclimate the public at the current accelerated rate. As the public becomes more comfortable with IAC and other sightings, "crop circles," etc., additional types of information might be released. It appears most of the research community is running one to two years or more ahead of the mainstream media. This gives some timeframe for possible disclosures to the general public -- while providing advance details to those who are ready for it now.

Having a certain number of informed citizens among the population could very well prove to be an invaluable resource in the face of unpredictable future events. Indeed, history may record that it was these aware people who set aside their differences and worked together the most to help humanity, their country and their government in the changing times and challenges ahead.

WARWICK RESEARCH INSTITUTE [signed] WRI
MAJIC Attn: MJ-8

I think the content of this letter is the result of a sociological study conducted by the Warwick Research Institute, associated with Warwick University in Warwick, England [Photo: Press Room at Warwick University during President Clinton visit - Editor]. I think the incomplete date and lack of a proper signature are part of the disinformation that should be expected in such releases. This allows people who are not ready for the truth to continue living with their comfortable, narrow perspectives. A MidOhio Research Associate questioned the Institute receptionist about their clients and was told they are primarily the United Nations, the World Bank, and the International Monetary Fund [4]. The package received by Schuessler, and apparently a number of other prominent UFO investigators, that contained this letter also contained a list of names and addresses that included a Christian Warwick. This was done, I believe, to help keep inquisitive investigators off the back of the Institute in England.

AMOCO Advertisement and the Alien

In November of 1989 AMOCO placed a full-page advertisement in Aviation Week and Space Technology magazine headlined "Technology so advanced it will help you answer some big questions." On the back was a full-page color photo of an alien head and shoulders with his four-fingered hand raised in a gesture of friendship. On 23 Dec 89 a lady named Renee photographed her daughter on a hobbyhorse next to a 19-inch TV. She saw nothing unusual; but, when she got the picture back there was a full-screen head of an alien on the TV. The TV was not on. This appears to be a case of instrumented transcommunication (ITC).⁵ This is alien technology. Both images look like they could be the same alien species. I wonder if they could be a part of a joint human-alien program to influence our thoughts.

Are Tabloids Used to Introduce Us to Reality?

Supermarket tabloids have almost-zero credibility among thinking people, because many of their stories are embellished with fiction. They are written in a manner that prevents follow-up investigation. If you were MJ-1, and you wanted to slowly condition the public to the fact of alien liaison, what would you do? Perhaps you would arrange for a tabloid to publish pictures of an alien with the President on the front page so that everyone who bought food would see it. This method would fairly well assure that you would not get an invitation to a national press conference. Then you might follow up with pictures of presidential candidates and perhaps a president's wife with a not-so-threatening-looking alien. Most people scoff at such "revelation", but the subtle conditioning of the mind is real.

In 1988 the World Weekly News published a photo of a crater on the Moon with an apparently fake US Navy PB4Y-2 Privateer nearly filling the crater. The story indicated the picture was taken from a Soviet orbiter in 1970. In 1990 the same Toronto-based tabloid published another photo of the same crater with a real-looking PB4Y-2. However, this time the aircraft was rotated about 10 degrees and moved back from the center uncovering more of what appear to be constructions. A diligent researcher, John Anderson, found the crater, named Daedalus, in Fred Steckling's 1982 book, We Discovered Alien Bases on the Moon. The photo of the crater was made from Apollo 11 in 1969, and it is 48 miles in diameter. Both photos are fake. So why would two different aircraft photos be superimposed over a crater on the moon in a manner that calls attention of the researcher to the constructions in the crater? Perhaps, using a tabloid seen by many millions of people plants a seed of thought not only about an alien presence, but also about constructions on the Moon, a seed that had only reached a small audience through Fred Steckling's book.

Statements by Our Leaders

The Louisiana Mutual UFO Network newsletter for Nov-Dec 1992 contained an article, "Authoritative Quotes Hint at UFO Secrets Government Can't Tell." The article said that in 1950 President Harry Truman is quoted as saying, "I can assure you that flying saucers, given that they exist, are not constructed by any power on earth." Dr. Herman Oberth, father of modern rocketry, is quoted as saying in 1954, "(UFOs) are conceived and directed by intelligent beings. They probably do not originate in our solar system." Years later he was quoted as saying, "We cannot take the credit for our record advancement in certain scientific fields alone. We have been helped." When asked by whom, he replied, "The people of other worlds." Then Dr. Wernher von Braun, reflecting on the deflection of the US Juno 2 rocket from orbit in 1959, stated: "We find ourselves faced by powers which are far stronger than we had hitherto assumed, and whose base is at present unknown to us. More I cannot say at present. We are now engaged in entering into closer contact with those powers, and in six or nine months time it may be possible to speak with some precision on the matter." Both President Ford and President Carter spoke about UFOs before being elected but failed to shed further light on the subject after becoming president.

Chapter 11 of Brad Steiger's book, The Philadelphia Experiment and Other UFO Conspiracies is called "Government UFO Coverups—A Summary." It says that in June of 1982 Stephen Spielberg screened his soon-to-be released film "E.T. the Extraterrestrial" to President Ronald Reagan at the White House. After the movie had ended and the lights had been restored, Reagan confided to Spielberg, "You know, there aren't six people in this room who know just how true that really is." Before the President could elaborate, their conversation was interrupted by well-wishers.

I have heard from a credible private source that in 1985 two "Ascended Masters" appeared in a meeting between Soviet leader Gorbachev and his top advisors. They said he was personally responsible for the nuclear threat to this planet, and he must change his ways. Before they "disappeared", they said just to make sure he understood how serious they were, they were going to cause an accident to happen at Chernobyl. Less than a year later an "accident" did happen at Chernobyl and Gorbachev did change his ways. This story sounds ridiculous to most people, until they understand the concept that a nuclear fireball can blow apart a soul. It can affect things beyond this planet, as many of the 1950s' contactees were told. I find it interesting that now Gorbachev, along with Carl Sagan, are leaders in establishing Green Cross International to help save our planet from destruction. Also, Gorbachev is reported by the Associated Press to have had his movie debut in Munich where an angel appeared to him and spoke to him about the meaning of life.

Later in 1985, in December, while addressing high-school students in Fallston, Maryland, President Reagan recalled his recent conversation with Gorbachev. Reagan said, "I couldn't help but say to [Gorbachev], how easy his task and mine might be if suddenly there was a threat to this world from some other species from another planet outside in the universe. We'd forget all the little local differences...and find out once and for all that we really are all human beings here on this Earth." Again, in September 1987, in a speech before the entire UN General Assembly, Reagan said, "Perhaps we need some outside, universal threat to make us recognize the common bond that unites all humanity. How quickly our differences worldwide would vanish if we were facing an alien threat from outside this world. And yet I ask you, is not an alien threat already among us?"

More recently, according to USA Today and other newspapers, Henry Kissinger, in an address to the Bilderbergers meeting at Evian, France on 21 May 92, stated, "Today Americans would be outraged if U.N. troops entered Los Angeles to restore order; tomorrow they will be grateful! This is especially true if they were told there was an outside threat from beyond, whether real or promulgated, that threatened our very existence. It is then that all the peoples of the world will plead with world leaders to deliver them from this evil. The one thing that every man fears is the unknown. When presented with this scenario individual rights will be willingly relinquished for the guarantee of their well being granted to them by their world government." It seems evident to me that some of our leaders know a lot that many people are not ready to hear. Perhaps our alien visitors can decide who is ready for the truth and who is not. Perhaps it is a matter of individual choice.

The Fire Officer's Guide to Disaster Control

The Fire Officer's Guide to Disaster Control by William M. Kramer, Ph.D. and Charles W. Bahme, J.D. is a totally serious book found in fire and police department libraries across the nation. In June 1993 a new chapter (pp.458-473) was added to this book. Bahme saw the "UFOs" over Los Angeles on 26 Aug 42 that were attacked by ground defenses, which killed nine people. During the Korean War he was Security Coordinator for the Chief of Naval Operations, The Guide is published by the Delaware State Fire School and made available through the Fire Engineering Book Service, (800) 752-9768....

The first half of the chapter is about, "The UFO Threat – A Fact". There are sections under the following headings: UFO Discussion - Why Now? UFO Background Information, UFOs - What are They?, UFO Classification System, Shapes of UFOs, History of UFOs, UFO Organizations, Why the Secrecy?, and UFO Missions. The second part is on "Adverse Potential of UFOs:" with sections on: UFO Hazards, Force Field Impact, Communications Disruption, Regional Power Blackouts, Fireballs Over Syracuse - The Blackout Connection, UFOs - The Panic Hazard, and Personal Hazards - Physiological. Prior to the "Conclusion" there are some comments on "UFOs - Emergency Action."

This document appears to me to put a lot of pertinent information in the hands of "regular folks" in communities around the country, Are we being told just what we need to know when we need to know it?

Promoting Better Thought for a Better World

Is there any doubt that this planet is facing tremendous change? Most of our problems are the result of too many people, too many people making selfish choices. Consideration for the well being of our planet and our fellow humans too often does not drive our thoughts and our actions. I think we won't have a better world until we have better people on it. If it is true that we are what we think, perhaps we should change our thoughts. The changes taking place on this planet are easier to understand if you have a spiritual perspective that includes reincarnation...

Finally, I will close by saying I think there is a group of intelligent people on this planet working in liaison with higher intelligences, or alien visitors, to make this a better world. I think many people with powerful connections, such as the Bilderbergers, the Tri-lateral Commission, and the Council on Foreign Relations, understand the importance of success. Some of these people have gained much experience in international affairs through government service. Some are bringing people together through multi-national corporations. Some have established major foundations. Some have great influence on the media. I think we are being told through a wide variety of covert means a lot of what we want to know....

I wrote the above paper over 11 years ago, so I will comment on some more recent evidence of government covert education for truthseekers concerning the alien presence. First, I will provide a follow-up to the important 1985 visit by "Ascended Masters" to Gorbachev concerning nuclear weapons. Gorbachev called Reagan at the G-7 meeting in Europe, and they had a brief private meeting in Vienna. Kissinger said in his book, Diplomacy, that when Reagan left the room he was obviously upset but would not talk about it. The report on the 6 Apr 86 Chernobyl accident said that during a test three poor-judgment decisions caused loss of control of the reactor. I know that telepathy can influence such decisions. In a 19 Dec 85 response to a world government inquiry (in my files), Gorbachev said that he was willing to eliminate 50% of the Soviet nuclear weapons. However, when he and Reagan met in Iceland after the explosion, Kissinger said that Gorbachev's opening position was that he was willing to eliminate all Soviet nuclear weapons now if Reagan would do the same. Reagan was only willing to go half way. This event is what caused Reagan to make statements at his next public appearance, a Maryland High School, and then at the UN General Assembly about a possible alien threat.

UFO investigator Vladimir Rubstov from Kiev reported at the MUFON Conference in Austin, TX that three hours after the explosion a 6 to 8-meter diameter disk in a fiery ball hovered over reactor #4 and projected two crimson beams into the flaming core for three minutes before slowly moving away. During this time the readings on the radiation recorders dropped from 3000 to 800 miliroentgens per hour. This indicates a removal of 73% of the hazardous material. It appears that whoever caused the explosion took some responsibility to help clean it up. My Russian friend, Nikolai LeBede, told me that they now realize that dumping planeloads of boron on the flames greatly increased the radioactive fallout and should not have been done. I suspect this decision was made because the officials could not believe that aliens had already removed most of the radioactive material.

In the 104 Q & A sessions that RA, the "Sun God" teacher of the Egyptians, had with Don Elkins through Carla Reukert about 1983, RA said they were still trying to repair human souls that were "disassociated" at Hiroshima in WW II. The RA Material tells us that if a human is engulfed in a nuclear fireball, the strong nuclear force will disassociate the energies of our “eternal soul.” This confirms what the 1950s contactees were told, “Nuclear weapons affect things outside of this planet.” Loss of our physical bodies by other means is not so serious from the perspective of higher intelligence. There is logical reason for an ascended master to take drastic measures to change the direction of governments. I see these events as a lesson in Exopolitics backed up by action. Many now accept that the Chernobyl catastrophe triggered positive change throughout the world. The numbers of nuclear weapons continue to decrease, and Gorbachev has dedicated his life to eliminating them all.

As a student of world leadership, I gave considerable thought to who replaced Carl Sagan as MJ-8, the position responsible to manage public reaction to the alien presence. I decided that it was Sagan’s long-time colleague, Frank Drake. Drake now heads the Search for ET Intelligence Institute (SETI), a “private” organization. Drake, and his public relations agent, Seth Shostak, are now used by the CFR-controlled major media to “balance” information directed to the general public. The recent ABC special, “Seeing is Believing” is a good example. Drake occasionally feeds us some useful information. He stated in his Forward to Shostak’s book, Sharing the Universe, “Mix in some true observations with some fantasy, and the naïve will conclude that all is true...” However, the events of the “Oscar” case investigated by Forest Crawford are not mentioned in the book. In this case Frank Drake was the primary interrogator of an alien recovered from a crash near Phoenix in 1975.

I have further thoughts on The Human Potential Foundation (HPF) and my friend, C.B. Scott Jones, Ph.D. He is a spiritually oriented gentleman with experience in Korea as a Navy fighter pilot, in Navy intelligence, and in the War Room of the Pentagon. After retiring he worked for Senator Claiborne Pell, a CFR member, reporting to Pell on UFO conferences and Psychic Research conferences around the world. Jones was, for a while, President of the American Society for Psychic Research. Lawrence Rockefeller asked Jones to let him know when he was ready to work for him full time. That happened in 1993 when Bill Clinton became President. Jones founded the HPF with Senator Pell, as a 501-3C organization, and he became the HPF President. Rockefeller gave the HPF $1 million to encourage the US Government to release to the public previously classified information about the alien presence. Jones was very effective in causing information to be released, however, it was done covertly, and it sometimes included disinformation. My assessment of some examples follow:

1. The "Alien Autopsy" film. – The film is real (obviously a dead alien), but all info associated is false.
2. The "Live Alien" film. – This alien dies on film, probably in the 1950s (no longer of concern to those who might fear aliens). All that "Victor" said about it is false.
3. The 1995 HPF conference at the Washington Sheraton, "When Cosmic Cultures Meet," was beautifully organized by Jones. - Though Clinton, Sagan and various UN people were invited to speak, they declined, and George S. Robinson, a world-class lawyer, was the most important speaker, in my opinion. His subject was "Homo alterios spacialis, Extraterrestrial Progeny of Humankind and a Declaration of Interdependence." He said that we could not take national laws into space. We have to determine what is natural or cosmic law, what law pertains to us out there, aliens down here, and human/alien hybrids here there and everywhere. Jones closed the conference by asking us all to stop trying to prove the evidence of the alien presence and to start considering how that presence affects all aspects of society. That was 10 years ago, and many did not get the message.
4. Linda Moulton Howe and Derrel Sims received hardware. – NIDS scientists proved it was of ET origin, because five elements had isotopic ratios "not of this planet." This was announced at an International Press Conference at the 50th anniversary celebration of the Roswell crash. This 1997 conference was given major media promotion to make it a newsworthy event for our general public. The media used the Phoenix lights of 13 Mar 97 as if they were recent, and a non-human face was put on the cover of Time Magazine 23 Jun 97. I think this drawing is Homo alterios spacialis.
5. Many previously classified documents were released and made available to seekers by Bob and Ryan Wood. - One of the most interesting is the 1954 MJ-12 Special Operations Manual 1-01, ET Entities and Technology, Recovery and Disposal. I think the validity of this document was verified when a copy mailed through the US Post Office from Bob to Ryan was delivered to Linda Moulton Howe. I think the same agents who sometimes make our mailed evidence of the alien presence disappear redirected it. They knew she would make it public soon, and it was released as part of the public acclimation program.

Finally, I will mention a case of unseen beings promoting public acclimation to the larger reality represented by aliens. Years ago Wendelle Stevens and Gene Roddenberry were speakers at the same conference. At breakfast Stevens asked Roddenberry, "Where do you get the story lines for the Star Trek series." Roddenberry said, "I get them at about 2 o'clock in the morning. Sometimes they come faster than I can write. When I wake in the morning all I have to do is flesh it out." I think that humans, aliens, and possibly angels have been slowly preparing us to join the galactic society for a long time.

About the author: Lt.Col. Donald Ware (Ret) received a BS in Mechanical Engineering from Duke University in 1957 and an MS in Nuclear Engineering from the Air Force Institute of Technology in 1970. He retired from the U.S. Air Force at the end of 1982 with wide experience as a fighter pilot, staff scientist, teacher, test manager, and programs manager. He has observed alien vehicles nine times starting with the famous sighting over Washington D.C. on 26 Jul 52. Since retirement, Mr. Ware has spent most of his time studying the persistent mysteries of mankind. He is currently on the board of the International UFO Congress and an Advisory Board member of the Exopolitics Institute. Main website: <http://home.earthlink.net/~donware>
